[ARTIST BIO]

Southern California based singer & songwriter, Peter Abichaker (abby shaker), is building bridges through his unique east-meets-west brand of English & Mandarin pop music that features emotionally expressive melodic hooks and lyrical themes of resilience. As a queer Lebanese American growing up in Boston, he found escape and identity expression in the magical sounds of Asian pop music from the early 2000s, as well as the powerful storytelling of American rock pop – galvanizing him to fearlessly share his own voice & perspective through song.

Inspired his unique combination of musical influences and life experience, Peter’s multi-lingual debut EP, Beautiful Fighter, delivered a refreshingly novel pop sound that exposes both stories of both pain and joy in the heart – having been described as that which “touches and awakens something beautiful within us” by leading LGBTQ news & entertainment website Queerty.com.

He has had the joy of performing both Chinese original and cover songs for Mandarin speaking audiences – with his voiced being described as "magnetic" by NowNews Taiwan. He has also performed on Chinese network television competitions including BTV’s "Arts From Our Land" & CCTV’s "Chinese Bridge."

His latest English/Mandarin dual version release, 'Audition/Du Yi Wu Er' endeavors to create a monumental cross-cultural pop music moment – fusing Arabic & East Asian aesthetics to create a mystically alluring visual that boldly embodies queer art & expression. The release underscores his passion to create queer Arab visibility while creating music that uplifts across cultural and social barriers.
